THE MAYOR'S CONTEST.

The Ballot-box Will be Opened To-day.

The contesting board met again on Tuesday to consider the contest between Mr. V. Berberich, Republican, and Judge Ira Julian, Democrat, candidates for Mayor at the November election. Esquire G. W. Hall, of the Bridgeport Precinct, took Esquire McDonald's place on the board, and the case was proceeded with. The attorneys for Judge Julian entered an objection to the jurisdiction of the board to try the case, which was argued at length by counsel on both sides and was finally overruled by the board, who decided by a vote of two to one that they did have jurisdiction, and then the case was adjourned over until 9 o'clock this morning, when all the evidence will be gone into and the ballots cast at the Gas House precinct will be counted and the legality of rejected ballots cast at other precincts passed upon.

As yesterday was the last day in which an appeal can be taken to the Circuit Court it was agreed by both sides that the party who was not satisfied with the decision of the board should have the right to appeal the case to the Circuit Court, and no objection was to be made as to time by the other side. So at last there seems to be light ahead and a probability that the people will learn who was elected in November to take charge of city affairs.

Gone to Lawrenceburg.

Mr. J. S. McKendrick has moved his family from Lexington to this place, and will in the future make this his home. Mr. McKendrick has entered into a partnership with Mr. F. F. Waller and the two will continue the coal and lumber business. The stock will be greatly increased and the firm bring a strong one financially, will, no doubt, do an extensive business—Anderson News.

Mr. McKendrick was formerly president of the Frankfort National Bank of this city, but since resigning that position has not engaged in business until now. His new partner is his nephew by marriage and will hardly let Mr. Mac be bothered with many of the cares of the business, though the firm will be a strong one—the junior member furnishing the push and energy and the senior stability. We wish them prosperity.

Foot Scalded.

Mrs. W. H. Newhall has been quite ill with la grippe for the past two weeks and during her illness Mr. Newhall attempted to act as nurse and care for the children also. One evening last week he undertook to fill a hot water bag while holding his youngest boy, little Stanley, in his lap and in doing so upset the kettle containing the water and spilled a portion of it upon the child's foot, scalding the skin off. The little fellow has suffered intense pain for several days and it will be some time before he can wear his shoe, but is getting along all right now.

Robin Hood Coming.

Barnabee, Karl and MacDonald's Robin Hood Opera Company, comprising sixty carefully chosen artists, a superb chorus of thirty-five voices, a superior operatic orchestra, and equipped with a full car load of special scenery and effects, will appear at the Capital Opera House, Saturday, Dec. 30th. In the entire list of light operas new or old there is none more deservedly popular than "Robin Hood." It is beautifully picturesque in comedy, genuinely tuneful as to music, and thoroughly poetic and romantic in its general flavor. Moreover it is a record breaker of the pronounced type, its success being unequaled in the history of American opera comique. For five months within one year it held the New York public to such an extent that throughout that time the Garden Theater was sold out two weeks in advance at $2 a seat. The reason of its wonderful popularity is clear. There is not a single dull moment in the opera from the rising of the curtain upon the market place of Nottingham till the last act has been concluded and the sly old sheriff defeated in his scheme to separate the lovers, Robin Hood and Maid Marian, and to pocket their fortunes. Handsome, rollicking Little John, quaint Will Scarlet, and jealous Allen-a-Dale, are a trio of as likable characters as ever graced a stage. The sheriff, of course, is a comedy host in himself, and the fat Friar Tuck is an unctuous fun maker. Then there are Robin Hood, Maid Marian, Dame Durden, Anabel, and the booby Guy, of Gisborne, all of whom contribute to the charming entertainment. To name the songs that have won wide celebrity would be to name nearly every solo in the work. The three acts—two in the old town of Nottingham, and one in the heart of Sherwood Forest—present pretty stage pictures.

"You are old, my dear grandma," the little girl said.
As she lay by the fire with Dolly.
"For as white as the snow are the hairs on your head—"

"Pray tell me dear grandma, the reason of this
Why you always look healthy and sprightly
Why you never are pale when you give me a kiss,
Why you take such long walks morn and night!"

"The reason, my darling," her grandma replied;
"Is simple, it needs no description. I've always been well, for I keep by my side
A bottle of Pierce's Prescription."

All ages and all conditions of womanhood will find just the help that woman needs, in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. That's a matter that's guaranteed. If it can't be done, then the medicine costs you nothing—the makers don't want your money.

For all derangements, irregularities and weaknesses peculiar to the sex, "Favorite Prescription" is the only remedy so certain that it can be guaranteed. If it fails to benefit or cure you have your money back.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy positively cures catarrh.

W. L. Coppersmith is pushing things right along and will be able to show you as nice a line of holiday novelties as you will find in Frankfort. 14-17.

Manual Training.

DRAWING.

The value of drawing as a means of mental discipline is not inferior to that of any of the studies at present included in the curriculum of the public schools. It is, therefore, not only because of its economic value to the pupil that this study has a right to be taught in our schools. Its value as a means of developing and training of the mental faculties is well established. A series of lessons based on geometric forms and perspective, has claims as an educational factor which may not be repudiated. The value of geometry as a means of mental culture is established. To bring these methods and truths of geometry down to the youngest pupils who may not have the opportunity to learn them elsewhere is a commendable act.

Drawing possesses the power to excite the interest and to arouse the attention of a child and is therefore educational in a high degree. Interest in any worthy matter and concentration of thought upon any worthy object or idea are essential elements in the progress of any individual young or old. Drawing places results before the child which he has himself produced. His creative instinct is satisfied in a degree by these results, and this encourages him to renewed effort. The realization that something has been attempted, something done, even though the product be rude is educative in its influence. The natural creation instinct of the child is well worth cultivating. This is a leading feature of kindergarten and of manual work. The occupations of these departments gratify the desires of the pupils to produce with their own hands and the same gratification comes to the pupils even in his first lessons in drawing.

We must not expect artistic skill to be exhibited by children. Artistic skill is the result of extended observation, wide experience, matured judgment and lengthened practice.

Crude material results are characteristic of early efforts. The true test of success is the awakening of interest in the mind of the child of about the forms and nature of the objects he sees around him, and the desire to express that interest by means of a drawing. Thus may drawing be made a means of helping to make many facts found in the text books which the children use, by illustrating them graphically on the blackboard or slate or upon paper.

In the pupil's attempt to represent an object by drawing it he meets difficulties which will stimulate him to observe the object more closely when next he sees it. This memory then is engaged to retain the form until he reproduces it with his pencil. He then compares and contrasts his production with his ideal and also with the object itself, exercising other valuable mental powers, voluntarily and profitably.

It is this mental result for which the true teacher will strive in preference to the artistic result, if choice is to be made between the two. It is a serious educational mistake to expect uniform results from a class of pupils. Uniformity of thought and action is hardly found among adults, who vary materially in religious, in political and in social matters. We must not expect great improvement to occur very suddenly, for a gradual and slow growth, in which is assimilated the nourishment supplied makes better and safer progress. Make the children interested in their work and they will be pleased to respond with their best efforts.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

The standard of their attainments should not be placed too high for them to reach. Information and thought and the expression of thought are the main things to be kept in view in drawing as well as in other studies.

Strong Witnesses.

Among the thousands of testimonials of cures by Dr. Miller's New Heart Cure, is that of Nathan Allison, a well-known citizen of Glen Rock, Pa., who for years had shortness of breath, sleeplessness, pain in left side, shoulders, smothering spells, etc.; one bottle of Dr. Miller's New Heart Cure and one box of Nerve and Liver Pills, cured him. Peter Jaquet, Salem, N. J., is another witness, who twenty years suffered with Heart Disease, was pronounced incurable by physicians, death stared him in the face, could not lie down for fear of smothering to death. Immediately after using the New Cure he felt better and could lie down and sleep all night, and is now a well man. The New Cure is sold, also a free book, by J. W. Gable.

The Legislature is coming. It is to be hoped they will prove to be something more than salary-

A strong, healthy woman instead of a tired and ailing one! Sounds like a miracle, doesn't it? But it isn't. It's only the ordinary, every day work of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—just the work that it was made for. It's a woman's medicine, carefully compounded for her by an experienced physician, and adapted to her delicate organization. It makes weak women strong, suffering women well. It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and bracing nerve, and a certain cure for all the functional derangements, painful disorders or chronic weaknesses peculiar to the sex. For ulceration, displacements, bearing-down sensations, "female complaints" of every kind, it's a never-failing remedy. And, among all the medicines that claim to help women, "Favorite Prescription" is the only one that's guaranteed to do what is promised for it. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in any case, you have your money back. Is something else, that may pay the dealer better, likely to be "just as good" for you!

grabbers. They should increase the list of offences punishable with the death penalty; establish the whipping post; place the highways in the hands of the State or county government; make it impracticable for any but capable and competent teachers to enter the public schools; appropriate money sufficient to build a decent capitol building at Frankfort, and then with a small amount of legislation of minor importance they could go home and the people would call them blessed.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky, as second-class mailable matter.

GEO. A. LEWIS, Editor and Pub.

FRANKFORT, DECEMBER 23, 1898.

The Case Went Over.

The special term of the Circuit Court, which was called for the purpose of hearing the injunction cases growing out of the recent city election, met in this city on Monday afternoon, with Judge James E. Cantrill presiding. The matter was taken up as soon as the court was opened and Mr. Jas. A. Violett, of counsel for the Democratic claimants, made a lengthy statement of the case and concluded by moving the court to dissolve the injunction gotten out by the Republican claimants. Judge Holt, counsel for the Republicans, at this point raised the objection that the order calling the special term was not in accordance with law, in that the order posted was not signed by the Judge but by the clerk, but said he would not press the objection unless the other side would agree to take up a trial of the contested election case upon its merits. To this the counsel on the other side would not agree and the court sustained Judge Holt's objection, which threw the case over until the next regular term of court, which meets on the first Monday in January. The court then adjourned.

Considerably Scored.

The residence of Mr. A. Butler Branch, two miles from this city, on the Louisville pike, came near being destroyed by fire Monday morning. Just after the fire was made in the kitchen stove, a safe standing some distance from the stove took fire and was in a bright blaze when discovered by Mr. Branch. A basket filled with silk-weed bolls was sitting near the safe and a spark from the fire must have popped into it, setting fire to the silky lint of the bolls and firing the safe. The flames were extinguished with a few buckets of water.

Will Hardly Make It.

Every day we hear some one say the new St. Clair street bridge will be done by the 20th of January. Well as this is the 23d and the 20th of January is only twenty-eight days off, with no iron yet in position on the bridge, we are inclined to think that these sanguine gentlemen are a little off in their calculations. But perhaps they mean some other January than the month which comes in one week from Monday.

Badly Burned.

The little three-year-old baby boy of County Clerk N. B. Smith, went too near the grate at his father's home in South Frankfort Tuesday morning and his clothing took fire. Before the flames could be extinguished the skin was burned off the right side of his neck, his right wrist and his under lip. Fortunately he did not lie in the flame and will doubtless be all right again in a short time.

Goes to Wales.

Mr. Robert Trabue was on Tuesday recommended by Secretary Gresham to the President for appointment as consul at Swansea, Wales. The recommendation is equivalent to an appointment. Mr. Trabue is the youngest son of Col. S. F. J. Trabue, a prominent citizen of this county.

Came Near Being Serious.

One of the workmen engaged in putting up the traveler on the top of the old bridge to be used in erecting the new was standing upon the top of the frame work Monday morning and in attempting to catch a rope thrown to him lost his balance and fell, but succeeded in catching a rafter of the bridge some thirty feet below and saved himself from a hard fall on the floor or going through a hole into the river beneath. Fortunately he was not hurt sufficiently to prevent his going on with his work. Just now there seems to be an epidemic of horrible accidents, but we trust that no life or limb will be lost in the erection of the new bridge we are so sadly in need of at this time.

Doing a Lively Business.

The ferryboat now being used between the North and South sides of the river may not be a thing of beauty and is a little old-fashioned, but it is doing a rushing business just the same. Between four and five thousand people cross the river on it every day, and last Sunday one hundred and seventy-five passengers went over at one time, and still there was room for more. It is estimated that twenty-four trips are made in an hour and at that rate for the sixteen hours a day that it runs free, it only requires about a dozen passengers per trip—and there are seldom less—to run it up close to five thousand.

A Herald of the Infant Year. Clip the last thirty years or more from the century, and the segment will represent the term of the unbounded popularity of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The opening of the year 1904 will be stabilized by the appearance of a great Alchemist of the future, in which the uses, derivation and action of this world-famous medicine will be lucidly set forth. Everybody should read it. The calendar and astrological calculations to be found in this brochure are always absolutely accurate, and the statistics, illustrated by names and other reading matter rich in interests and full of profit. The Hostetter Company, of Pittsburg, Pa., publish it thus free. They employ more than sixty hands in the mechanical work, and more than eleven months in the year are consumed in its preparation. It can be obtained without cost of drug stores and country druggists, and is printed in English, German, French, Welsh, Norwegian, Swedish, Italian, Bohemian and Spanish.

Notice.

Subscription books for signatures of all those who wish to hear the famous humorist Bill Nye, have been left at Guy Barrett's, M. P. Gray's, Holmes & Halloran's and at the Capital Hotel. If the required number of subscribers are obtained, the management of the Opera House will secure the above humorist. It is very hard to get attractions at Frankfort this season on account of the continued lack of attendance. Persons desiring to hear Bill Nye should lose no time in signing their names to the subscription list.

FRANKFORT, DECEMBER 23, 1893.

The Fall of the Church.

BY CONVICT 409.

The Church and World walked side by side
On the changing shores of time;
The World was singing a giddy song,
And the Church a hymn sublime.
"Come go with me," pleaded the merry World,
"And flirt just a little while."
But the Church withdrew from his wanton hand
And she proudly answered "Nay,
I dare not take your hand at all,
And I cannot walk with you;
Your way is the one where many fail,
And your words are all untrue!"
"Nay walk with me but a little space,"
Said the world with a kindly air,
"My road leads to a pleasant place,
And the sun shines always there!"
Your path is thorny and rough and rude,
While mine is broad and plain;
"My road is paved with richest gems—
Your's is damp with tears and pain!"
The sky above me is always blue,
No labor or want I know;
The clouds above you are always dark,
Your lot is a life of woe!
You see my pathway is broad and fair,
And the gate is so high and wide,
There is plenty room to enter there,
And we go on side by side!"
Half shy the Church approached the World,
And gave him her hand of snow;
The first step gained the tempter hurled
At the Church another blow.
"Your dress is too plain," said the World in haste,
"I will give you pearls to wear;
Velvet and silk for your gown if I will,
And diamonds to deck your hair!"
The Church looked down at her plain white robes
Then up at the dazzling world;
And blushed as she saw his handsome lip
With a smile which pride had curbed.
"Well, I'll change my dress for a richer one,"
Said the Church with a smile of grace,
Then her pure white robes were thrown away,
And the World gave in their place
Beautiful satins and jewels rare,
Sweet flowers and gems and pearls;
And over her forehead her long, straight hair
Fell crimped in a thousand curls!
"Your house is too plain," said the World again,
"I will build you one like mine,
With carpets of Brussels and couch of down,
And furniture costly and fine."
So he built her a mansion of marble rare,
Splendid and grand to behold;
Her beautiful daughters and sons dwelt there,
Gleaming in purple and gold;
And fair and shows in the halls were held—
And the World through their children there;
And laughter and revel and feast were heard
In the house that was meant for prayer.
She had cushioned pews for the rich and great,
To sit in their pomp and pride;
While the poor folk, clad in shabby suit,
Might sit anxiously down beside.
The angel of mercy flew over the Church,
And whispered "I know thy sin!"
The Church looked up with a sigh and longed
To gather her children in;
But some were off to the midnight ball,
And others were at the play;
And some were drinking in marble hall,
So she let them go their way.
She told the World, and he quickly said,
"Your children will meet no harm—
Young people all must laugh instead
Of being kept in alarm."
She laughed and talked and gathered flowers
With the gay, deceiving World;
While a million souls, in the same and hour,
To the bottomless pit were hurled.
"You give too much to the poor," said the World,
"Much more than you ought to do,
If the beggar need shelter and clothes and food,
Now, why should that trouble you?"
Don't mind the poor, but buy rich robes,
Scented silks, alikes and satins fine;
And pearls and diamonds—richest food,
And old and costly wine.
My children feast on just such things,
And if you their love would win
You must do like they, and walk in the way
That they are daily walking in."
The Church tightened up on her well-dilled purse
As she lowered her satiny head,
"I have given too much to the poor, I guess,
Now I'll do as you have said.
So the poor were turned from her in scorn,
And she heard not the orphan's cry;
And she drew her beautiful robes aside,
As the widows went weeping by.
Then the Church sat down at ease and said:
"I am rich and in good increased;
I have need of nothing and naught to do,
But to laugh and dance and feast!"
The sky World heard her and laughed the while,
Then mockingly said naught.

"The Church is fallen, the beautiful Church,
And her shame is her boast and pride."
The angel drew near to the merry seat,
And whispered in sighs her name:
The Sal is their anthems of rapture hushed,
And covered their heads with shame.
Then a voice came down through the hush of heaven,
From Him who sat on the throne:
"I know thy work and how thy hand said,
I am rich and have not known
That thou art naked and poor and blind,
And wretched before my face;
The score from my presence I cast thee out,
And blot thy name from its place."
Revelations, Chap. III, verse 17-18.

Mr. J. P. Blaize, an extensive real estate dealer, in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of that State during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blaize had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaize sent to the nearest drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful and in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day he was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaize regards his cure as simply wonderful. For sale by J. W. Gayle, druggist.

Coal Going Up.

The price of coal was advanced by all the dealers in the city, on Thursday, from ten cents—the price it has been selling at all summer—to twelve cents per bushel. This is not so very high, but the question is will it stop there? We are informed by some of the dealers that they have their contracts made with the miners and railroads for the winter, which will enable them to keep it down to the price fixed on Thursday, but strikes at the mines and the freezing up of the Ohio sometimes knock all these arrangements in the head.

Dyspepsia

Isn't pleasant nor is it necessary. Dr. Hale's Household Tea will cure it. We have a great many testimonials from people who say it has absolutely cured them. It is pleasant to take and cost only 25c and 60c a package at P. H. CARPENTER'S drug store.

The Handsomest of All.

Of all the handsome souvenirs of the old wooden bridge which have yet appeared that gotten up by the enterprising drug firm of LeCompte & Gayle Co. is by far the handsomest and will be most highly valued and most carefully preserved by all lovers of that historic old landmark.

We refer to the pair of etchings made under their supervision (and controlled entirely by them) by our clever local artist, Mr. Paul Sawyer.

The first is a view of the south entrance, taken from a point directly in front of their handsome drug store, and shows the entire surroundings of that end of the bridge, including the old stone toll-house, all reproduced with a surprising faithfulness in every detail. Beyond you see the Catholic Church spire and the dome of the Custom House.

Sentimentally considered this is probably the most valuable of any view that could possibly be had of the old structure, being entirely familiar to everyone.

The second etching is taken from the south bank of the river, about two hundred yards above the bridge, and shows the bridge in its entire length to the southern abutment, affording splendid views of the historic "drift pile," the steeple of the Catholic Church and almost the entire view of the Custom House.

This we consider the most artistic picture that we have ever had of the bridge and its surroundings, and would attract attention and provoke favorable criticism in any art gallery.

Upon both of these etchings Mr. Sawyer has spared neither labor nor pains, and they may be considered the best work yet produced by our rising young artist.

Too much praise cannot be given the LeCompte & Gayle Co. for having these etchings made, and affording everyone an opportunity to secure such valuable and permanent souvenirs of the old structure that has been identified with our city for the last half century.

A Great Improvement.

For sore throat there is nothing better than a Hannel bandage dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It will nearly always effect a cure in one night's time. This remedy is also a favorite for rheumatism and has cured many very severe cases. 50 cent bottles for sale by J. W. Gayle, druggist.

The Office Removed.

The removal of the office of the Western Union Telegraph Co. from St. Clair street to the room in the basement of the Capital Hotel was completed on Thursday, and in his new quarters Manager Newton is very comfortably fixed. The room having been handsomely fitted up for the purpose, every thing is convenient and the business of the company can be more satisfactorily handled.

Contract Let.

Mr. Wm. Ruple let the contract for making the approach to south end of the new bridge to Messrs. Conway & Fincel on Thursday.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of the ROUNDABOUT will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Behind Their Orders.

The company is composed of go-ahead men who are pushing their business for all it is worth and the State will soon have to increase the capacity of the factory if it expects to supply their demands for chairs.

WORKMEN WAITING

For Important Iron for the Bridge.

It seems that in shipping the iron for the new bridge from Cleveland no regard was paid to getting those members which would be used first on the ground the earliest. In fact, just the opposite course was observed, as the first cars which came contained the handrailing for the sidewalk, just about the last thing to be put up. Two weeks ago the bridge was closed for travel for pedestrians and there was a great bustle and hurry among the workmen to get up the traveler, and it was given out that the iron was coming right along, the bridge was to go up like magic, and people inclined to wager money were advised to bet on the bridge being done by the 20th of January. But now, when the traveler is about ready, it is discovered that the irons for the top chords of the bridge, the most important members, have not arrived, and no one knows when they will get here. A number of workmen were laid off yesterday and there's no telling when they will be put to work again. With the probability of a hard winter ahead of us, during which but little outdoor work can be done, especially if the coming January proves to be anything like the last one, this is exasperating. It is no fault of the Construction Company, who are to put up the bridge, that this state of affairs exists, but of the King Bridge Company, which has been taking its own time in everything. The only prompt action upon its part since it obtained the contract being to demand the payment of an estimate when due. And about the only good resulting to the city from the muddle in the City Council affair has been to tie up matters so that the city's portion of the estimates cannot be paid to these people who pay so little regard to their contract or the wishes of this community. But having drawn half their money, the company has us foul, and the only thing we can do is to await their pleasure and kick.

Other Bridge Accidents.

Mr. George Markham, who has been employed in helping to raise the traveler on the bridge, was standing under it Thursday when a block fell from above, striking him on the right ear and cutting it severely.

Yesterday morning Mr. William Bennett, foreman of the Construction Company, was standing under the traveler when a wrench used by one of the men aloft slipped out of his hand and fell, striking Bennett upon the leg and tearing off the skin for considerable distance.

The Columbian Desk Calendar

which is issued annually by the POPE MANUFACTURING COMPANY, of Columbian Bicycle fame, is out for 1894, much improved in appearance. It is a pad calendar of the same size and shape as those of previous years, having a leaf for each day, but its attractiveness has been heightened by the work of a clever artist, who has scattered a series of pen drawings through its pages. It also contains, as usual, many appropriate and interesting contributions from people both bright and wise.

TO CALIFORNIA

The Land of Sunshine, Fruit, and Flowers.

The Midwinter Exposition, already much talked-of, bids fair to rival the great fair that has just closed at Chicago—not in size, perhaps, but certainly so in originality, in richness and in delighted visitors, who will unanimously agree that the Pacific Coast is worth many times the time and money spent to visit it, in its return of delightful climate, mellow sunlight, wondrous growth of vegetation, and the heretofore unheard-of net-work of industries connected with fruit raising, and the shipping of the product.

In order to give an opportunity for everybody to visit this wonderland during the Exposition, California routes via the Queen & Crescent Route have been reduced, and every one may find the cost of such a trip within his means.

As for equipment, it is the only line by which you can travel from Cincinnati to San Francisco, absolutely without change. Tourist sleeping cars run every two weeks through from Cincinnati to San Francisco. Solid vestibuled trains twice a day from Cincinnati to New Orleans, where connection is made with through trains and Pullman sleepers daily to California points. Through car service to either New Orleans or Shreveport making direct connection for Texas, Mexico and California. From Louisville through trains make direct connection at Lexington with solid vestibuled service to New Orleans.

Send to us for further particulars. Ask agents for rates, schedules and other information, or address W. C. Rinearson, G. P. A., Cincinnati, O.
